

2022 Atlantic Indigenous Mentorship Network Funding Opportunities

Call for Applications: Conference Travel Awards

Submission Deadline: May 13th, 2022

Background

The Atlantic Indigenous Mentorship Network (Atlantic-IMN) is a 5-year mentorship program funded by the Institute of Indigenous Peoples' Health (IIPH) at the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR). The CIHR-IIPH initiated the Indigenous Mentorship Network Program (IMNP) in 2017 to support research networks and capacity building for Indigenous health and wellness students and Indigenous early career researchers through culturally relevant learning opportunities and mentorship activities. The Atlantic-IMN is among seven regional networks and one national network operating across what is currently Canada. The Kausattumi (Inuttitut for 'the dawn') Grants Program is an initiative of the Atlantic-IMN that will provide financial support to Indigenous students and early career researchers.

Funds Available: Travel Awards

Travel awards of $2000 for conference travel are available for Indigenous undergraduate students, graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, and early career researchers. The conference will be a knowledge-sharing event related to or about community-informed and supported Indigenous health research. Priority will be given to presenters.

Eligibility Requirements

- First Nations, Métis, and Inuit students, postdoctoral fellows, and early career researchers whose degree programs and programs of research involve community-informed and supported Indigenous health research that serves to benefit Indigenous communities in Atlantic Canada.
- Students and postdoctoral fellows must be completing their degree program or position with the supervision of an Indigenous or allied health scholar at a post-secondary institution in Atlantic Canada.
- First Nations, Métis, and Inuit students are eligible if they are attending any Canadian post-secondary institution, and PDF's and ECR's are eligible if they are undertaking research anywhere in Canada, as long as they haven't received funding from another Indigenous Mentorship Network in the same funding period.
- If applying from outside of Atlantic Canada, they must demonstrate a connection to the region (e.g., they must be Indigenous to Atlantic Canada and/or they must demonstrate the impact that their research will have on the health of Indigenous communities in Atlantic Canada).

Successful applicants are expected to participate in and contribute to Atlantic-IMN and broader IMNP activities.

Deadline

Please complete the application and submit it via email to info@atlantic-imn.ca by May 13th, 2022 (5pm ATL). State your last name and the type of application you are submitting (e.g., LastName_TravelAwards) in the subject line. All applicants will be notified of their result by June, 2022.
